Dear Peter,

FG/151/11 Magpies, Sea Lane, Ferring - one detached dwelling and garage on site of former garage - archaeological comment

This is a relatively minor application and already partly on the footprint of the existing garage. The West Sussex HER indicates that there was Roman pottery found in Ferring but the location was not cited with sufficient accuracy in the past to establish whether this was anywhere near the application site.

In the event I consider that this can be taken as a de minimis matter and no archaeological response is necessary. No objection.

Yours sincerely,

Mark Taylor, Principal Archaeologist
