Hi Anita

I have read Bernie's report and familiarised myself with the proposed development.

The Arboricultural Method Statement (AMS) and associated Tree Schedule and Tree Protection Plan (David Archer Associates, March 2018) appear to have adequately considered the trees on and off-site and therefore meets the requirements of BS5837:2012.

It is somewhat 'generic' but well intentioned and as the author states, while not a detailed engineering specification it does set out the principles of tree protection required.

In considering the quality/attributes of trees being considered, I would not raise an objection to the proposals so long as we conditioned any consent with their strict adherence to the AMS and in particular the inclusion of myself as an invitee at all site meetings of arboricultural significance (AMS report, Table 1, Page 6).

Kind regards,

Mark
