Subject: FG/26/15 - Contrary to Local Plan

Mrs Gardner: I would like to suggest that the application for a 4-bedroom house at Eastlands is contrary to the Local Plan and should be designated as such. This is outside the built-up area and in the Angmering Gap, where development is only permitted for uses necessary for agricultural uses.

The house is not required, even for equestrian uses, because when the new stables were given planning permission (FG/84/09) it was on the basis that the applicant had demonstrated that there would be no accommodation (even in a caravan or mobile home) and the stables would be staffed on a three-shift system, each shift arriving by car. Your Officers' Report for this case makes this very clear. - Ed Miller, Ferring Conservation Group
