Dear Sir

Further to the submitted application regarding the controversial conversion of the pub to residential, I object to the plans submitted on the basis that Ferring will lose an essential business that forms part of the village community. Bearing in mind the economic difficulties this pub has faced over the last few years I appreciate the need to renovate the building and conversion of part to residential use seems a practical option however I suggest the north facade that fronts Ferringham Lane should be retained as smaller pub/bistro with space to the rear and above converted to residential units. A sympathetic conversion of this historic building offering both residential and commercial would be a more favourable option. This village has proved its community spirit during the Covid 19 lockdown and it is important to keep local businesses supported and trading.
