Hi Zac,

I believe I have adjusted these now, you were quite right in terms of the inaccuracies.

Apologies, I hope you can make better sense of these ones attached.

I have spoken to number 58 (Who turns out to be a retired structural engineer) he called me up. He thinks we would have a better out come to follow the same design as his property ?

Let me know what you think, and if there's anything else in needing my attention.

Regards,

Roz Nowak

Subject: RE: FG/51/20/HH - 66 Elm Park Farm

Good morning Roz,

Thank you for your email.

There have been comments raised by local occupiers regarding the proposal, if you wish to respond to these, your response will be scanned against the application also.

One large area of concern is potential inaccuracies on the plans, I was wondering if you could clarify. The hips of the main roof on the roof plans show these elements going 'through' the flat roof parts of the dormers, whereas on the elevations, this appears different as they appear to line up. I was wondering if you are able to clarify this?

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any further comments you may have.

Kind regards,

Zac

Hi Zac,

I was wondering if you could help me.

I can't seem to view the application above on the planning website.

Just wanted to check up on the projects progress and let the client know if any comments had been made ect.

Regards,

Roz Nowak
