Hi Simon,

Thank you for forwarding the additional documents.

I see the proposed revision appears to be more flexible in terms of angling the light beam but I think that if appropriately installed and operated, the new version seems suitable from an EH perspective because, as you say, it does not direct light upward. If, for some reason, the lights are re-positioned/re-angled to illuminate anything beyond the curtilage of the associated property/properties, we can investigate concerns/complaints.

Thank you,

Kate.

Dear both,

I have now been supplied with the attached photo. The 2nd attachment I found on the internet and is the spec for the light. I assume this will now meet all concerns as it is a downlighter.
