Dear Hannah

I am pleased to show below the report and images from Felpham Parish Council's Tree Warden, Jon Bray, that accompany the objection comments:

'Gateway Lodge:

- Works to T1 (image left)- Felling ornamental cherry is appropriate given it is in substantial decline, a suitable replacement should be sought when it is removed – ideally of a similar size, depending on budget.
- Works to T2 (Images middle left, middle right): Felling of this mature horse chestnut is unreasonable. Particularly on the basis of the path being constructed too close to the tree base. The chestnut is in good health and should be preserved. I suggest the estate redirects the undulating path (caused by tree trunk buttress) to accommodate the residents' needs.

- Works to T3 (image right): Crown reduction to olive is appropriate to avoid growth encroaching on nearby dwellings and footpath.'

Thank you for your assistance.

Kind regards

Nicola Meaney
