Good Evening

In response to your three questions on my Planning Application I respond as follows:

The Tree on the right is an Ash Tree

Cutting back regeneration growth to previous pruning points that were last carried out approx 10 years ago.

This is to reduce risk of limb throw in high winds as limb length is approaching Property which could sustain damage.

Also to reduce shading in the garden.

Pruning to be carried out on the Northern side of the canopy.

The tree on the left is an Oak Tree.

Carry out end weight reduction to a large horizontal structure limb facing North, to reduce the risk of limb failure in bad weather which could result in damage to persons or property.

Both trees would benefit from dead wood removal on limbs over 50mm in diameter.

Should you require any further information then please do not hesitate to ask.

Thanks

Shaun Salmon
