I have recently seen planning for LU/131/18/PL at present undecided.

I do think it very unfair of the council to put only one displayed post on land which is private and which none of the residents would go on. You put planning on the web site which disadvantages people without the means or ability of internet and those who do must look through the list every week. I believe it should be in the newspaper but i do not see on your site which one you use, do i need to buy every one to check? it should be in the obvious Littlehampton paper. I don't know who decides where planning is advertised but i think they should take another look
