Dear Philip,

The Reserved Matters application LU/27817/RES - Lyminster Bypass is currently out for public consultation.

Reserved Matters have not been approved for the Bypass and work has not commenced on the development.

Kind regards

Michael Eastham

Dear Mr Eastham,

I am concerned that fencing has begun on the Worthing Road allotments. There has been no provision made for reptile fencing, this is required by law and a suitable mitigation plan needs to be created.

You may not be aware that the area is home to both slowworms and common lizards, the known recent sightings being within 30 yards of the fence.

It is the understanding of the Sussex Wildlife Trust that these works should not have commenced until planning is granted and the concerns of the Conservation Officers be addressed. I understand that I should request an officer of the council to attend site to check as to whether the activities undertaken are lawful.

But the overriding issue is why this fence has been erected without a suitable reptile barrier.

Yours faithfully,

Philip Ellis
