Hi Emma

The new joists do not need to be built into the wall or hung in hangers, as long as they are a snug fit and screwed to the existing at 300 c/c that will be fine, see attached.

Peter.

Thanks Peter

Can you clarify the following please:

Are you proposing new joists are hung from joist hangers. If so do you have a specification?

Are you proposing that old and new joists are fixed together anyway?. If so do you have a specification for this?

Also I note from your letter that you do glazed structures. Im struggling to get a specification out of a glazing company for the porch at Quakers. Is this something you could design and specify (for a cost)?

Look forward to hearing from you
Kind regards
Emma
