Hello Anita,

There are no buildings on site (existing or for conversion) to store hay and straw.
The new barn will hold 800 standard bales harvested from the surrounding fields.
Most of the bales are exported steadily over a 12 month period to farmers in the South West of England.

Many thanks, John.

Dear John,

Please can you provide some additional information relating to the justification and need for the proposal. I note that you state the barn is to be used for dry storage of hay and straw produced on the farm. Are there any existing buildings that could be used or converted? Is the size of the building directly related to the storage requirements in terms of cubic metres of storage space and bale number and size? I would appreciate receipt of this additional information by lunchtime tomorrow.

Regards

Anita Gardner
