Job Description

- Tree Report

The tree question is a mature Sycamore tree at 1.2 metres in diameter at ground level And with a height of 10 metres . After my recent inspection of the tree it is very clear that the tree is in significant decline and has numerous Ganoderma fungus brackets dotted round the base of the tree the tree. The tree also has large decay in centre which will now be affecting the root structure and stability of the tree. The canopy of the tree is quite thick and lush with good growth however the main scaffold limbs of the tree are showing signs of significant dieback ultimately this tree is at the end of its life And I would class this tree as being dangerous In conclusion, I see no other option than to recommend the immediate removal of the tree as it poses potential danger to the surrounding the neighbours and members of the public.

All work is carried out in accordance With British Standards 3998 2010 and will be performed by fully qualified and insured personnel. We are currently council and check a trade approved contractors. We Also currently hold a valid waste carrier licence, under the the Environmental Agency regulations 2011.

Kind Regards, Richard Moore
