Dear Richard,

I refer to the above application and I have seen that you left a message for me yesterday. You have mentioned the fact that the submitted second floor plan shows the windows (in error) to the front facing elevation.

You have asked this question before and I have already sent you revised plans by email on 8th February and again on 14th February (after you asked again), correcting the error.

I once again attach a copy of the revised second floor plan and the front facing elevation for substitution for those you are wrongly showing on the current application.

I have now copied this to everyone at Arun Planning who may have some role in the application in the hope that one of them may be able to remedy the situation.

Please confirm back that you have received this email.

Regards,

Chris Moore
