

FRED ALDSWORTH BA(Hons), FSA, MCIFA, MIHBC

Archaeologist and Heritage Consultant

I have a combined honours degree in Archaeology & Geography from the University of Southampton (1974). I am a fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of London; a Member of the Chartered Institute for Archaeologists; and a Member of the Institute for Historic Building Conservation.

I have over fifty years experience in the heritage field, working in the UK and abroad in both the private and the public sectors. I have served for fourteen years in the former County Planning Department of West Sussex County Council.

I have been involved in and advised on the survey and interpretation of a large number of historic buildings and sites, particularly in advance of conservation, repair, and, in a few cases, transfer to open air museums. These have included World Heritage Sites, such as the Giza Plateau, Great Pyramids & Sphinx, Egypt; the Great Wall of China; the Royal Khmer City and Temple complex at Angkor, Cambodia; the former Royal Palace at Antananarivo, Madagascar; and the Ironbridge Gorge Museum, Shropshire. I have been involved in the restoration of Beirut and have also worked in Bermuda; in Iran; at the ancient city of Tyre in Lebanon; and on the Red Sea coast and in former Nubia, both in Egypt.

In the UK, I have been involved in the restoration and adaptation of a considerable number of Scheduled Ancient Monuments, and Grade I, Grade II*, and Grade II Listed buildings. I was a member of the architect team that led the restoration of the Grade I Listed Uppark for the National Trust, following the devastating fire in 1989.

I have undertaken research for numerous other structures including fortifications, historic ships, and industrial, ecclesiastical, and domestic buildings, and have prepared more than twenty Conservation Plans in support of successful applications for grant aid to the Heritage Lottery Fund, including the Cowdray Ruins at Midhurst, and eleven historic ships, including Cutty Sark, RRS Discovery, and the Royal Navy submarine HMS Alliance.

I have prepared a very large number of desk-based archaeological and building assessments for a wide variety of sites and buildings having regard for their history, fabric, and significance, and have published articles on a wide range of subject material.
