We object to this planning application for 130 houses

Pagham has taken more than its fair share of housing developments , and with this the increase in traffic
Is already very apparent
There will be more noise and a rise in anti- social behaviour .
The most concerning thing is the huge loss of wildlife habitat in an area which should be championing conservation

Pagham attracts tourists who enjoy the countryside - but soon they won't be able to see anything but housing estates

- Will they still visit ?

Unfortunately the land is owned by a farmer (who is now a property developer) who has no regard for Pagham his only interest is money .

I think the people of Pagham need to be listened to before the area is completely ruined .
