20/3/2017

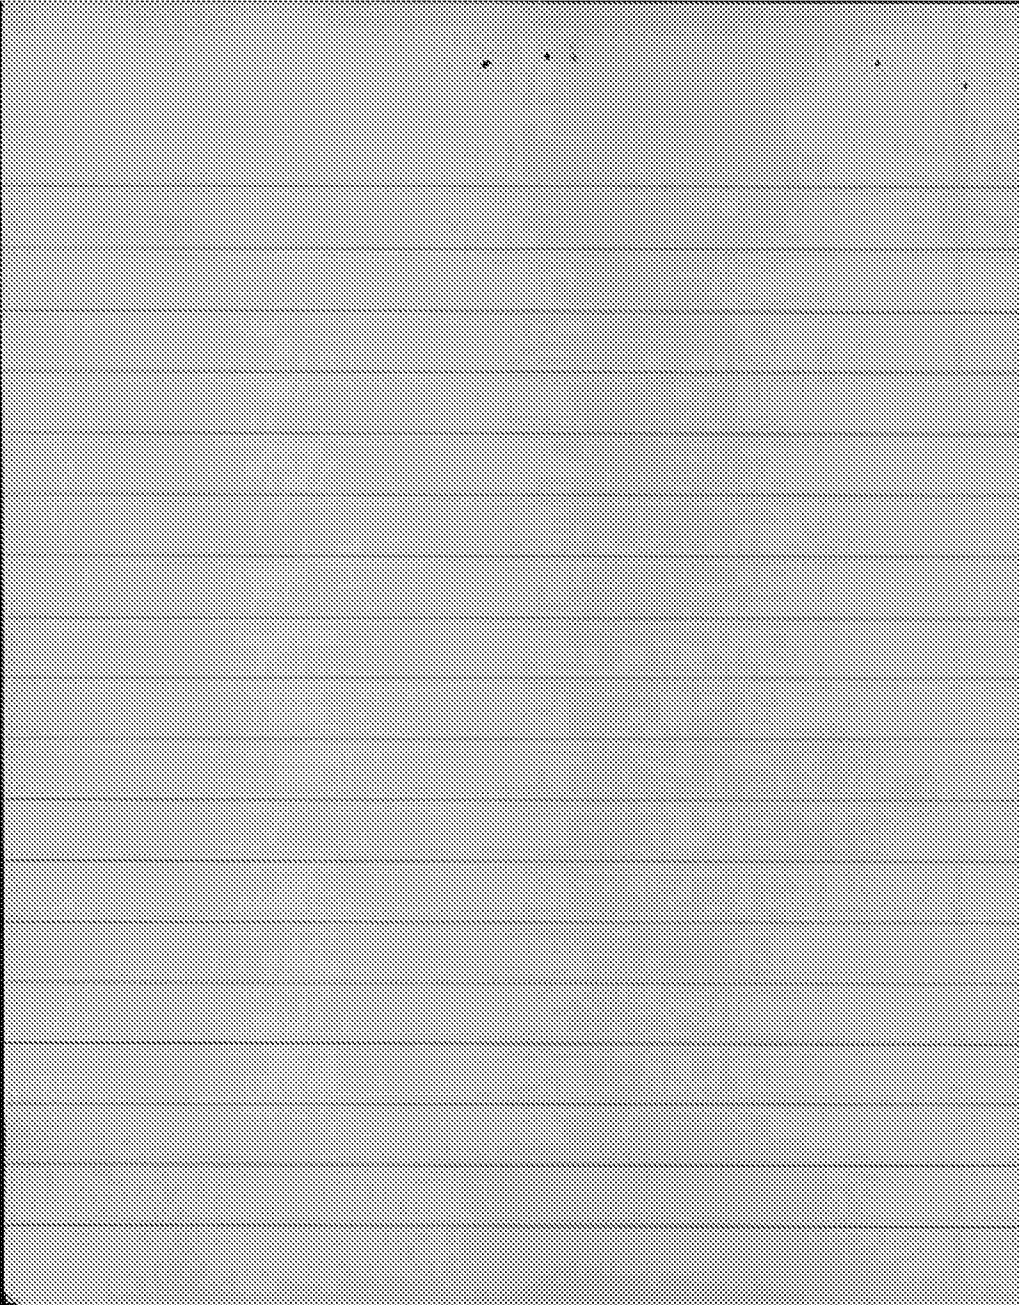

PAGHAM

ARUN DISTRICT COURT	ROGNOR REGIS
22 MAR 2017	W. SUSSEX
RECEIVED	PO 21 HQD

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to you to OPPOSE the planning application P/6/17/OUT at Hook Lane, Pagham.

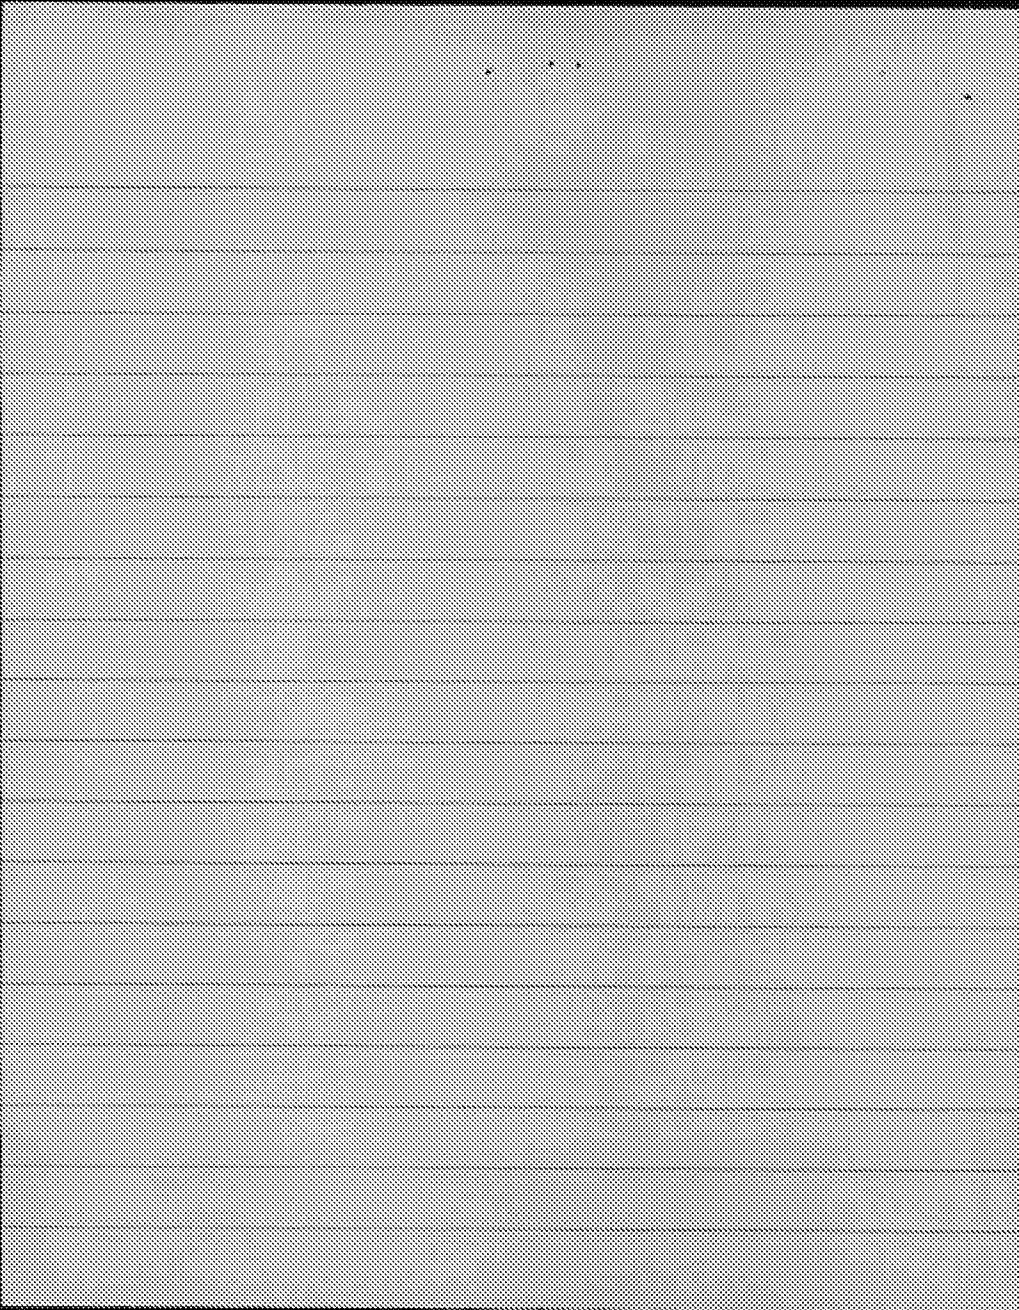

The whole of the infrastructure will just not be able to cope, along with this application and the others in the close area there will be major problems with ALL of the infrastructure.

it has now been scrapped from improvements by the government.

Turning to other matters of ~~the~~ infrastructure, DOCTORS, we already have to wait 10-14 days for an appointment to see ~~of~~ our own doctor, what's going to happen with up to 3,000 more people here, same with nurses, dentists, Hospitals, etc, etc.

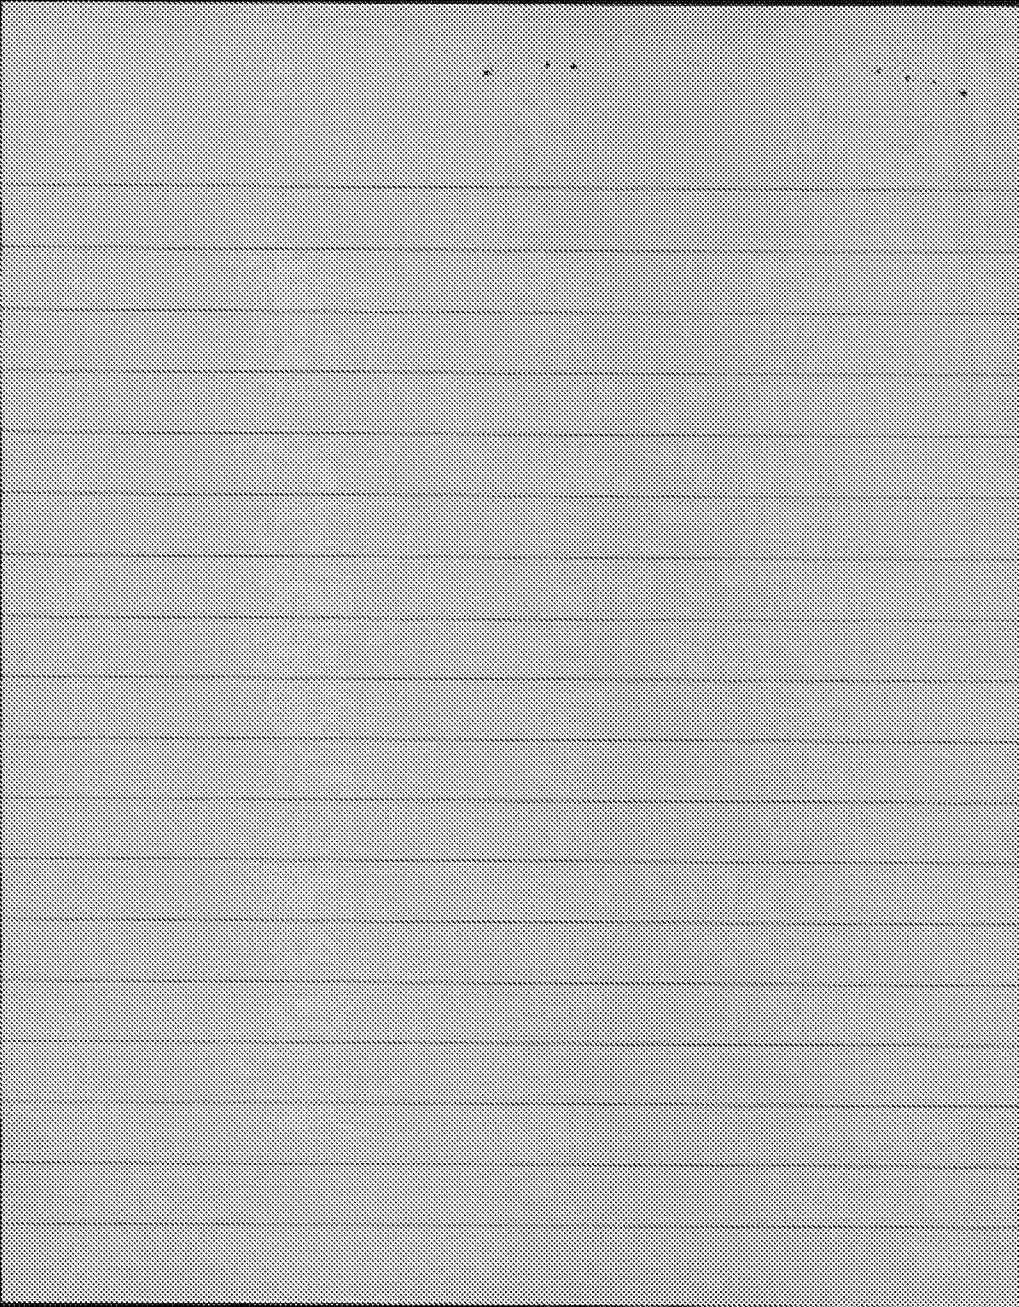

The sewage is another Big problem, as reported in the local press, see the page I have enclosed.
(Friday 17th Feb. Bognor Regis Post)

With Hook Lane application they will be building on land that already FLOODS year on year. NON SENSE !!

Employment? where are all these people going to work?
IF they find it, how are they going to get there? we then go back to the roads!!
and traffic.

FARM LAND, I am from a agricultural back ground working
most of my life on the land.
when you concrete over farmland you cannot grow food, i -

Pagham Rd. and all the surrounding roads are not much more than old cart tracks from years gone by with some tarmac put on top of them to make small, narrow roads that will just NOT cope with modern day traffic, we already have 20 ton lorries, large farm tractors, cars, and a service bus 6 times a hour on Pagham Rd already. so where are you going to put a lot more going to the A27. that is now in so much trouble as

GROW NO FOOD :- YOU CANNOT EAT :- DONOT EAT YOU DIE.

It is just complete NONSENSE to let this and other planning applications
get the go-ahead.

Yours Sincerely,

Harbour raw sewage shock

RAW SEWAGE is being discharged into a Pagham beauty spot every five weeks on average.

The human effluent flows into Pagham Harbour nature reserve from the area's wastewater treatment works.

When the works in Summer Lane are unable to cope, their operator Southern Water, releases the untreated or mashed sewage into the nearby Pagham Rife from where it flows into the harbour.

The harbour is home to birds such as black-tailed godwit, little egret and pinnail and its nature reserve is run by the RSPB on behalf of West Sussex County Council.

News of the potentially damaging leaks of sewage was given by Pagham Parish Council member Cllr Phil Hailey at a meeting on Tuesday.

He said: "Since 2011, Southern Water have had to inform the Environment

Agency 55 times of a discharge into Pagham Rife of untreated or partially treated sewage.

Southern Water have said they have no issues with the proposed houses here because they would not cause the treatment works any problems but, clearly, there are big problems already."

He said the matter was one the parish council should highlight in its objections to the three large housing schemes which have been put forward for Pagham in the past two months.

Cllr Ray Radnall, the parish council's chairman, said: "I have been there when it happens. It's terrible. When the sewage goes down the rife into the nature reserve, it also affects our bathing water quality along the front."

"The sewage goes out and the tides see it end up back on the beach."

Horse riders warned over 'death trap'

by Kevin Smith

HORSE riders face a death trap if thousands more cars are added to Peham's roads, councillors have warned.

They fear the equine lovers will be risking their lives on routes like Lower Bognor Road if planned major housing developments get the go-ahead.

Cllr Ray Radmall, Peham Parish Council's chairman, said: "We do not want to see horses on that road. With the extra traffic we are going to get, it will be a death trap. It's very sad."

He was replying to a request from Jill Stevens, the British Horse Society's access and bridleways officer for the southern Chichester district, for an extra sign to warn drivers of the presence of horses and their riders.

"If the road is dangerous for horses now, it's going to be a damn sight worse if the housing is approved."

"There's no way of improving the road. There are massive ditches within two feet of the edge of the road," said Cllr Radmall.

told the parish council: "You might not be aware but this area is particularly well served by horse riders, despite being a rural area and a fair amount of horses being kept down around the parish."

"In this day and age of busy roads and heavy traffic, it is often a worry for many horse riders."

One matter which had been brought to her attention by the public were the conditions in Lower Bognor Road for horse riders, she said.

"There are around 50 horses, ponies and donkeys kept along various points down that road," she said. "With no bridleways to ride on in that area, riders are forced to ride on the road to get to off road routes."

"There is one sign warning road users about horse riders. This sign is positioned westbound before the sharp bend on which the Park House turnoff is located. However, there is no sign to alert road users from the other direction."

"This is a subject of worry to many of the riders I have spoken to. They already feel vulnerable riding on that road and many drivers do pass them too quickly on their horses."

She added that a second sign was paramount to the safety of horse riders in that area.

Police alert over report of a man acting suspiciously

POLICE were called to a report of a man acting suspiciously around a child in a Rose Green play area at the weekend.

The officers went along to the play park in The Nurseries, between Rose Green Road and Grosvenor Gardens, at about 5.30pm on Sunday.

It is alleged the suspect asked a young boy if he wanted to get in his car.

The boy walked away and returned home safely.

The man has been described as being aged in his 30s or 30s with long ginger hair which was shaved at the sides.

He had multiple facial piercings and was wearing a red tracksuit with a blue top.

Sussex Police neighbourhood schools officer Claudine Bishop said: "We take all such reports very seriously and would ask anyone to contact us immediately if they witness any suspicious behaviour."

"The best way to do that is to report information online or by calling 101. In an emergency, call 999."
