Hello

I think your description is fine but just to be on the safe side add single storey rear on the end , I will inform the planning officers that it is just to square off the house so ' Two storey side extensions, new roof, single storey side extension, single storey front extension and single storey rear'

If this is ok with you ill change it this end and get that uploaded for you.

Kind regards
Sian

Hi Sian,

The extensions are on the side with single storey extension on the front. I agree with your point regarding the rear extension just squaring off.

Please can you advise on the best project description to use

Many Thanks

Kind Regards

Dear Mr McGowan

Thank you for your email, I accept your description however I would advise that you include rear extension in the description as although the house is just being squared off and it is a very minor change in floor space, Arun council can be quite strict with the description and it may save you further conversations about the proposal down the line. However if you would like to stick with what you have provided I can accept that. Please advise.

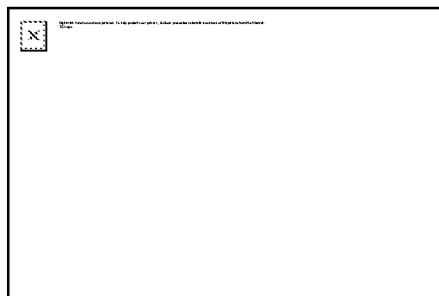

Kind regards

Sian
