Hi Nicky,

I have modified the plans as per your request. I have also found out what the scaling issue is. The plans were drawn on a Corel package and converted to PDF and printed using Corel PDF Fusion. If you follow this route then they print correctly at the right scale. However Adobe Acrobat and Microsoft packages apply a scaling factor to the PDF file when they print. I have re-exported the PDF files and have corrected for the scale factors that Adobe applies. They should now print correctly.

I have attached the files to this email as requested. Would you like me to upload them to the planning portal as well?

Regards
Alan Craven

Good Afternoon Mr Craven

Thank you for the attached plans. There are a few amendments that are needed, which I have detailed below;

Block Plan – is at a scale of 1:500, but when I measure the scale bar and distance to boundary it is not correct. I also need the measurement to the rear boundary. Please amend accordingly and re submit. When submitting PDF set the 'page size', and 'sheet size' to 'Auto'.

Existing and Proposed Elevations – are at scale of 1:100, but when I measure the scale bar it is not correct. Please check and amend accordingly.

Bi-fold door on new extension – on the floors plan they measure 2.6m and on the elevation measure 2.3. Please check the measurements and amend accordingly.

When submitting PDF set the 'page size', and 'sheet size' to 'Auto'.

Please send the required information directly to my email, by 21st September.

Kind Regards

Nicky Moore
