Hello Mr Shaw,

I have noticed that on the proposed plans for the above application, there is a single storey side and rear extension, but there also appears to be some alterations to the garage roof. Are these to be a part of the application? If so, and it is agreeable, could I request approval to amend the description to also include garage roof alterations? It would read 'Erection of single storey side extension, single storey rear extension and alterations to garage roof.'

Could I also request some clarification as to the proposed materials, I see that the application form makes reference to the drawings to clarify materials however, these only show the form of the external materials not what they are to consist of or their colour.

Kind regards,

Harry
