Dear Sir/ Madam,

The pruning of the tree is totally unnecessary for the following reasons

- 1, The entrance to the driveway way has only been made narrower by the construction of a wall that has not got any planning permission to be there. Please refer to plans 1516/01/12/B and plans 1516/01/11/C showing that the wall should not have gone further than the front line of the dwelling. In fact, it has increased by 5.7m in length alongside the front wall construction of 1m high also does not have planning permission. If this was enforced and the wall removed the tree would not need pruning at all.
- 2, To prune this tree in the described would have a detrimental way on its appearance and impact on the immediate environment.
