I noticed this planning application in Rustington and saw that it was for another food and drink outlet.

Within a short walk of the application there are thirteen other food and drink related outlets.

The last thing Rustington needs is yet another.

I appreciate that the Council cannot decide precisely which retail outlets come into our area but you do need to consider the overall shopping experience being offered to our residents.

The High Street is everywhere under pressure from out of town supermarkets and online selling and needs to be attractive to shoppers.

A town centre overburdened with food and drink outlets, charity shops, estate agents etc risks being left behind.
