Dear Matt

Thank you for your email and the attached images.

In order for me to validate your application, can you please confirm the limb reduction in metres to 1 No. Horse Chestnut tree, and also confirm if the limb is North, South, East or West facing.

If you have not already done so, you may want to consult a tree surgeon, who will be able to advise you of the best course of action to take.

Kind Regards

Nicky Moore

Dear Nicola,

Further to our recent Tree Application as above ref, upon further investigation I submit the attached photos.

On closer inspection it appears the Horse Chestnut Tree seems to be suffering from Bleeding Canker disease along with bark separation. Along with the fact that over the past few seasons the tree has also suffered from leaf miner, I think it's fair to say that the tree is in bad shape.

If you could advise the best course of action regarding this that would be greatly appreciated.

Kind Regards,

Matt
