Dear Sir/Madam,

I enclose ,as requested, 6 copies of an application to fell a tree together with an attached plan to each.

I would like to add to section 8 that the boundary wall concerned is directly on to the road and that if left untended the branches touch passing vehicles. Lopping them is in itself a hazard even though, at the moment they are quite thin. Thus there is cosequent danger in two respects.

If the roots were to cause damage to the wall, any collapse would be directly on to the road.

Although it would not be my intention to replace the tree it would certainly be my intention to replan the (albeit small) front garden in an appropriate manner.

Yours faithfully,
