Dear Planning

There will be no change to the existing drainage arrangements.

I feel very uncomfortable providing dimensions for the development to the boundaries of the Block Plan because of the nature of OS maps being +/- 1m in accuracy.

As you can see from the drawings the development runs the full length of the existing dwelling and extends to the side by 2.8m, which I feel is a more relevant way to assess it's size.

Please let me know if this information will suffice.

Best Regards
