Good afternoon,

I've just received some amended comments from the drainage engineers. I've confirmed with them that the only change is an additional comment at the end of the comment tracker, which states that flows should be restricted to 0.5 l/s for all storm events. I would be grateful if you pass this on, so that it can be addressed with the rest of the comments.

Thank you and kind regards,

Good afternoon,

I have now received comments from our engineers on your application at the address above, and I apologise for the delay in receiving these. As you will see, they are unfortunately not recommending discharge of the condition, and require further information. The information we need is outlined in detail in their comments. If you wish to submit additional information in order to resolve this, I would need to receive any amended plans/calculations and additional documents by 11/06/2025. If you intend to submit further information, please let me know.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
