Dear Chelsey,

Many thanks for this. Based on this drawing DPA 13 – Visibility splay, we can accept the access in this position with these splays. One other question, are the splays drawn to the nearside kerb or off set by 1m? It seems that the northern splay is to the centre line? This would be acceptable as it is not the leading splay but I do need this confirmed. Do the splays go over third party land at all? It doesn't look like they do but can you confirm this please?

Just to clarify no speed surveys will be required.

Dear Alison,

Please find attached DPA 13 – Visibility Splay. This is show with dimensions of 2.4m and 120m.

Kind regards,

Chelsey

Dear Chelsey,

I can see a blue line on the plan but it doesn't have any annotation on it to say its 120m. Furthermore is this set back 2.4m or 2m? This should be shown as otherwise its open to interpretation.

If the 120m visibility can be provided in both directions then this will be acceptable for a 40mph road if set back 2.4m and no speed survey will be required.

Kind regards
Alison

Dear Alison,

The road is 40mph outside the application site. On drawing DPA02A the central drawing shows the 120m visibility splay is shown on the site plan with a google maps underlay.

Can a speed survey be conditioned as the applicant does not want to pay for this to be done prior to permission being granted.

Kind regards,

Chelsey

Hi Juan,

I am dealing with a re-consultation of planning application WA/33/18 however I am unable to respond fully as there is still information missing that I require. The applicant has now provided swept path diagrams for a refuse vehicle but I am still unsure of the visibility splays and the actual speed of the road. I asked for a speed survey and visibility splays taken to the nearside kerb. Will these be provided as I have no other comments other than the ones I made previously asking for these things.

Kind regards,
Alison
