Hello Anita

Please find attached the revised plans. The front wall has been set back 1m and the front roof has been changed to match the ridge height of the rear roof, this lowers the ridge to nearly 1m. I think this would be a better option than changing the pitch or adding a flat roof. With regards to the verge overhang, the existing ground floor side wall is already at least 250mm away from the boundary line therefore I haven't moved it in on the side.

Many thanks

June

Dear June,

I have discussed the revised plans with my Team Leader. The reduction in ridge height and offset do not go far enough to make the application acceptable. The extension still does not appear subservient and requires further reduction in its overall size. I would suggest that the ridge height is set at least 1.5m below the current ridge line and that it is set back at least a metre from the front elevation. It would also benefit from a 1m gap being provided from the roof to the boundary and a reduction in depth of the extension. The amount of proposed accommodation will need to be rationalised.

Without prejudice, I will await your instructions or revised plans within the next 10 days. If you choose not to amend the application it will be refused and your client's would of course have the right of appeal.

Regards

Good evening Anita

When you have a chat with your Team Leader next week, I would be grateful if you could take the following comments into considering;

In the 'Close' the building line is not a strong feature, nor is the rhythm of similar scale development (mass and bulk). It is the unified 1970/80s style that is the characteristic feature, which is not harmed by different scale of buildings. There is only one uncharacteristic feature in the scheme, and that is the rear elevated first floor. However, it does not impact upon the street scene or public vantage points.

Also in response to the neighbours comments he has not used the correct Right To Light information. He has taken the line from the side instead of the centre of the window and the drawing is not to scale, I have attached a plan showing the lines even if taken from the back of his garage.

Many thanks

June

Good Morning June,

My initial comments are that I do still have concerns over the size of the extension, I don't consider the ridge height has been reduced sufficiently or that it has been set back an acceptable amount from the front elevation but I haven't yet had the opportunity to discuss the current plans with my Team Leader before I come back to you. I won't refuse the application without allowing you the opportunity to amend the scheme. I should be able to let you have my views on the extension by the end of the week.
