Heritage Statement
8 Walberton Park

Walberton Park is a grade11 listed former Manor House.

It was converted into apartments approx 1982 and a further new build of 8 apartments was added. My apartment is the last in the block furthest away from the original building.

My French doors are rotting and badly fitting, we have had them realigned twice as they were hard to open and shut. They are draughty and in the winter we have to put towels down at night because of terrible condensation. I am not looking to change the look of the doors at all, that is why I have gone for the heritage acceptable thin double glazed, wooden doors.
