Dear Mr Harfoot,

Thank you for your email dated 15 October which I received on the 16 October. You are right to say that a minimum 21 day period of consultation is legally required. In this case 28 days has been given as the yellow notice was, inadvertently, displayed too early so the date of the 10th of October will not be changed.

I have looked at your application and it does not correspond with the advice given to you by Neil Crowther to allow for it to be approved. It may help if I could meet you on site so that I can clarify what changes are required. Please let me know what dates/times are convenient for me to meet you.

Kind regards,

Finlay Gardner

Dear Mr Gardner,

Good afternoon. The yellow sign went up outside our property last week. It stated comments are allowed until 10th Oct (which is 28 days)

I was wondering why the 21 day period allowed for comments, has been extended? Please let us know.

I'm keen to save as much time as possible, as we started our process in June and our Fencing company are running out of available days to complete our job before Christmas.

We hope to hear from you soon.

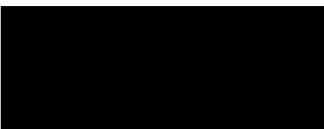

Kind regards,

Richard Harfoot
