

-----Original Message-----

From: Patrick Hedges

Sent: 06 May 2018 14:59

To: Simon Davis

Subject: Land adjacent to Bonhams, Hoe Lane, Flansham.

Dear Mr Davis,

I refer to Planning Application Y/20/18/OUT Unbelievably, and not long after the previous applicant was refused, we now face a submission from Parham Homes.

I suppose each application has to be ethically viewed in the proper manner, but unless the new applicant is proposing anything radically different, I fail to see why we all have to drag through this again.

This, then, is to most vehemently object to any proposal for the construction of ten homes on land adjacent to Bonhams in Hoe Lane, Flansham.

The points expressed in relation to the Pallant Homes Application most definitely still stand, and apply here.

It does not take a genius to see the whole idea of an entrance to a mini housing estate sited off an existing dangerous corner is a complete nonsense.

Further, it will destroy what is a fairly unique West Sussex hamlet, and presumably why the "agreed" limit to new building had a boundary south of the Bognor Relief Road.

There is little more to add to previously made rational comments.

The Application by Parham Homes must be summarily rejected.

Sincerely,

PATRICK HEDGES

Hoe Lane resident.

Sent from my iPad