Dear Sirs,

I have worked in Flansham as a stockman for 25 years and am very concerned that if this application is approved it will be the end of livestock keeping in the hamlet. We have always been told since Site Six was developed after 2010 there will be no extension of development north of the new road. But this would be .

From the point of the risk to security of the cattle, with many new, probably City reared families, roaming all over the grazing land, where we already have some problems with our animals. If this development is approved it will open the floodgates for further development of a beautiful old place which is really unique and a rare sort of Time Warp. On these grounds I want to make a strong objection to this whole plan.

Also from the point of view of the access to Flansham... To have all these new houses spilling their cars out into the lane at the point planned, where the road is too narrow anyway, and barely sixty yards from the big new roundabout on the A259, will lead to big bottlenecks and certain accidents.

With Regards

Walter Elvin
