I moved to yapton over a decade ago and it was a relatively quiet although there was building construction there was no where near the amount of new builds than there are today. Yapton has way too many residents to be considered a village these days. The sheer volume of traffic that yapton now endures is unbelievable due to all the new houses. We don't need anymore over priced small homes that nobody can realistically afford. We need our green spaces these farm fields are homes to deer foxes and other wildlife and for crops to be grown . Most importantly you're stripping away the farmers land and income .Not to mention less land for farmers to grow our food, which will then lead to food shortages.
