- Site location
- Zone of Visual Influence (ZVI)

NB: The study area is determined by the Theoretical Zone of Visual Influence (TZVI). This is generated by computer software which places a 3 m high structure (slightly higher than the maximum height of the panels) on the highest point of the application site and one at each corner and then calculates the TZVI based on a 3D topographical terrain map. The TZVI is based on topography alone and does not take into account trees, hedgerows and buildings which will provide additional screening.

The actual Zone of Visual Influence (ZVI) is then determined during a site visit by a qualified landscape professional, using the TZVI as guidance. The actual area from which the proposed development will be visible is determined by observation from the highest point on the application site and then by visiting receptors in the surrounding landscape.
