Dear Mr. Crowther,

What has happened to Town Planning? Communities were given government money to develop plans and policies for future expansion. Once approved, these plans were incorporated into Local Plans.

Now, "strategic sites" (no part of the above) have been identified for development because of supposed housing needs. In view of these high numbers and consequent demands on a community, such sites are not sustainable unless major improvements are planned and implemented first.

Who wants to buy a house if there is no school place there?

The following issues need to be addressed :

1. Education provision - both primary and secondary.
2. Housing mix to provide single occupancy - young, elderly, disabled.
3. High density does not allow for adequate open space.
4. Traffic management - just one exit onto Bilsham Road - need a roundabout to ensure safety of joining traffic.
5. Sewage and drainage capacity needs careful management.
6. Estate roads poorly designed and will not allow easy access for large delivery vehicles, dustcarts and emergency vehicles.
7. No scheduled bus service to reach Barnham mainline station.

Yours sincerely,
